

Florida Lake Management Society Fall Workshop

Hosted by

Florida Lake Management Society
Southwest Chapter
&
Pinellas County Watershed Management

Weedon Island Preserve, St. Petersburg
November 4, 2015

- 11:00 AM Welcome and Introductions
John Walkinshaw, President, Florida Lake Management Society
Robert Burnes, Pinellas County Watershed Management
- 11:10 AM A preliminary assessment of the ability of barley straw, cypress leaves and L-lysine to inhibit cyanobacteria in Lake Hancock, a hypereutrophic lake in Central Florida – Dave Tomasko, ESA Associates
- 11:30 AM Phosphorus, Nitrogen and Chlorophyll A in Selected Storm Water Ponds Relative to the 2008 Fertilizer Ordinance in Lee County, FL. - Dr. Ernesto Lasso de la Vega, Lee County Hyacinth Control District
- 11:50 AM Effecting Environmental Change—the misnomer of “soft BMPs” – John McGee, Hillsborough County
- 12:10 PM Lunch Break - Sponsored by Aquatic Systems
- 12:40 PM Impacts of Reuse Irrigation in the Urban Environment- Harvey Harper, Environmental Research & Design, Inc.
- 1:00 PM Water quality management plan development for priority lakes in Polk County – Hans Zarbock, Polk County
- 1:20 PM Rapid Assessment of Submerged Aquatic Vegetation Communities on a Large 2,500 Acre Lake in West-Central Florida – David Eilers, UCF Water Institute
- 1:40 PM Break
- 2:00 PM Freshwater Clams for Micro-Filtering Stormwater Retention Ponds - Ernie Franke, The Shore of Long Bayou Condominiums & Ryan Sullivan, Gulf Coast Lakes and Wetlands
- 2:20 PM Hillsborough River Watershed Alliance – John Walkinshaw, HRWA
- 2:40 PM Roundtable Discussion & Wrap Up
Maryann Krisovitch, Florida Lake Management Society

Sponsored by:

