

Dr. Paul Jones is a Senior Scientist at the South Florida Water Management District with more than 15 years' experience in environmental research and experimental design. Previous and current research has utilized numerous molecular biology/genetic techniques to identify and quantify pelagic and benthic microorganisms in freshwater and marine ecosystems.